Marc Gadsdon, Managing Director of In-Tuition Networks, commented, "In-Tuition is very excited about the opportunities for DataSync Suite in the UK market. Until now it has been overly complex and expensive for SMEs to integrate data between key line of business applications. Staff must log in to multiple different applications, usually many times every day and they must remember to update customer information in all applications to make sure that they all the same information. These inefficiencies result in lost productivity, cost businesses money and can result in frustration and confusion both for customers and staff. With the arrival of DataSync Suite these businesses can now enjoy levels of application integration previously reserved for the largest enterprises – all in one easy to deploy and manage, value for money package."
